Budget Billing

Budget Billing takes the surprises out of your MP&W bill. Budget Billing averages your monthly bills over the entire year so you pay the same amount each month. We base your monthly budget amount on the average of your past 12 months of usage at current rates. We review your budget amount annually or at your request. We also review budget amounts whenever the new budget amount differs from your actual usage by 10 percent or more. If your budget payment exceeds your usage at the time of the review, your budget amount decreases. If your budget amount is not enough to cover your usage, your budget amount increases. We renew Budget Billing automatically, but you can stop the service at any time. Your monthly bill still contains information on actual usage, but instead of paying the actual amount, you pay the budget amount listed on the bill.

Direct Pay

Direct Pay is an easy way to have your MP&W bill paid automatically and on time by your bank or credit union. You will never have to write a check or mail your payment with Direct Pay. Direct Pay works automatically. Once you sign up, you will receive your statement at your usual billing time. Your bill will look the same, except it will say, "Automatic Bank Withdrawal Do Not Pay." We notify your bank or financial institution with the bill one working day before the due date. Your bank deducts that amount from your account on the actual due date, not before. You can stop payment from the time you receive your bill up to three working days before the funds are scheduled for transfer. There is a one-month delay after you sign up for Direct Pay. You can cancel Direct Pay at any time.
